1960 Exits But Strifes Remain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The year 1960 bids farewell Saturday night—but it isn't taking its troubles with it. Three continents were torn by strife as the new year approached.

Millions prepared to welcome 1961 with wassail, but that would be just a pause until the problems had to be faced again.

Blood was being shed in Laos in Southeast Asia, while the Western world watched apprehensively to see whether the Communists were taking over still another country.

In Europe, normally solid Belgium was rent by strikes and riots in protest against an austerity program.

In Africa, there was no sign of a let up in shooting and disorders in the Congo and Algeria.

At the doorstep of the United States, the increasingly leftist and anti-Washington government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro was attempting to consolidate its power in Cuba.

President-elect John F. Kennedy, in Florida, stood just three weeks away from taking office and the vast responsibilities that go with the leadership of the West's most powerful nation.

If he had any qualms about tackling the problems ahead, he didn't show them. He paused in the task of shaping up his government to laugh as his 3-year-old daughter walked into a news conference wearing her mother's high-heel shoes.

President Eisenhower was only three weeks away from relinquishing office, after eight years of international upheavals, with the satisfaction of knowing he did not have to lead the nation to war.

France exploded its third "device" in the Sahara as 1960 neared its end. There were portents that Red China and smaller nations hoped to have their own "devices" in the not so distant future.

The overriding wish of millions of people around the world was that none of these devices would be exploded in anger.

So, in the tradition that the new year is a time for hope, for better times, 1961 will be welcomed like the years of yore. For many, it will mean dancing, drinks and funny hats. For others, it will mean church services and prayers for peace.

Actors And Writers File Blacklist Suit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for 12 Hollywood movie actors and writers filed suit against major studios Friday to abolish what they called a blacklist in the motion picture industry.

They said they had been denied employment because of the alleged blacklist since November 1947, and asked for $7.5 million in treble damages for loss of income. Their complaint alleged circulation throughout the motion picture industry of a blacklist containing their names and those of other persons accused of membership in the Communist party, past or present, or other subversive associations or activities. This included the exercise of an individual's right to take the First or Fifth amendments to the Constitution before a congressional committee.

The plaintiffs are writers Nedrick Young, Albert Maltz, John Howard Lawson, Herbert Biberman, Lester Cole, Robert L. Richards, Frederick I. Rinaldo and Philip Stevenson, and performers Gale Sondergaard, Alvin Hammer, Mary Virginia Farmer and Shimen Ruskin.

Maltz, Young and Miss Sondergaard have won Academy Awards.

The defendants are Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Columbia, 20th Century-Fox, Warner Brothers, Universal-International, Walt Disney Productions, Allied Artists, the Motion Picture Association of America (MPAA) and the Association of Motion Picture Producers.

A spokesman at the MPAA said there was no comment. Attorneys for the defendants could have about three weeks in which to reply to the suits, which were filed in U.S. District Court here.

"I wish you Godspeed and smooth sailing."

Patrick Henry Launched

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—The atomic-powered submarine Patrick Henry left this seaport for duty somewhere in the Atlantic Friday, her tubes fully loaded with deadly Polaris missiles.

The Patrick Henry thus joins her sister vessel, the George Washington, which loaded her 16 hydrogen missiles early in November.

The Patrick Henry slid quietly out of the harbor shortly after 2:30 p.m. Like the George Washington, she was to go underwater at a point offshore and remain submerged and on patrol for three months before receiving a change of crews.

The vessel is commanded by Capt. Harold Shear.

Adm. Arleigh Burke said "With your sailing today, you double the potential destruction that would be an aggressor's fate should he ever attack the United States and the rest of the free world."

"This is an awesome responsibility, but one for which you have received the most intensive training. We do not wish to threaten anyone with the kind of destruction available in your ship."

"We do, however, intend to have the weapons necessary to preserve the freedom which has been bought with the blood of many thousands of other dedicated people."

The vessel is commanded by Capt. Harold Shear.

"I wish you Godspeed and smooth sailing."

Sabers Used In Battling Belgians

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—few hundred yards from Brussels Grand Place, one of the most beautiful and serene squares on the Continent.

A few airline passengers looked on in stunned silence, apparently unable or unwilling to tear themselves away and take cover from the violent storm that blew up before their eyes.

The storm broke when one of the marchers, seeing the Sabena building, shouted: "Down with Sabena—they've got strike-breakers in their shops."

That lone but challenging cry did it. It seemed to set afire the demonstrators.

Armed with bricks and stones, about 3,000 demonstrators broke away from the parade and surged toward the Sabena terminal.

Mounted police charged into the mass, swinging the flat of their long sabers. The strikers scattered, re-formed and charged again.

In wide, flanking rushes they flung stones, bricks, steel bolts and nuts at the gleaming plate glass targets. As glass crashed, the police charged again.

In the meantime, mounted troopers brandished sabers as they swing into action against demonstrating strikers in downtown Brussels. One demonstrator was killed during yesterday's violence, first fatality in Belgium's 11-day strike against government's proposed austerity program.

Two Sections Total 6 Miles

THE STATE Highways Dept. yesterday opened bids totaling more than $6,250,000 for two additional sections of the Stroudsburgs Thruway.

Marsolino Construction Co., Uniontown, was low bidder for the section from Stroudsburg to Bartonsville at $3,731,137. The low bidder for the second section from Bartonsville to west of Tannersville was No. 1 Contracting Corp., West Pittston, $2,526,785.67.

The section between Stroudsburg and Bartonsville will be 3.28 miles of limited-access, four-lane highway with a 65-foot earthen median strip between the lanes.

The project includes construction of six bridges over Pocono Creek and ramps and service roads.

Bulletin

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The government of Premier Prince Boum Oum said Saturday seven well-armed battalions of Red North Vietnamese soldiers have crossed the border into northeast Laos and are attacking the town of Nonget.

A communiqué issued by the premier's office declared that "if the enemy does not stop its flagrant aggression" Laos may ask friendly nations for immediate assistance.

Some Western observers here said the communiqué indicated the situation is serious.

All available reinforcements have been rushed to invaded Xieng Khouang Province, the communiqué said.

"The aggression is becoming more obvious, but since Laos does not wish that it should be the cause of international conflict we will fight with all the forces at our disposal against this foreign aggression," it added.

The second section will include 3.10 miles of the same type highway and four bridges spanning Pocono Creek.

The first section includes rights-of-way in Stroud, Hamilton and Pocono Townships, while the second section is entirely in Pocono Township.

The highway will be built of reinforced concrete with 24 feet, or two 12-foot lanes, on each side of the earth median barrier.

In addition to Marsolino, bidders on the first of the sections included:

James D. Morrissey Co., Philadelphia, $3,757,472; J. Robert Bagley, Inc., Pottsville, $3,843,557; Nello L. Teer Co., Durham, N. C., $3,856,327; Herbert R. Imbt, Inc., State College, $3,880,298; Frank Mashuda Co., Evan City, $3,929,840; Central Pennsylvania Quarry and Stripping Co., Hazleton, and Reed and Kuhn, Inc., Elysburg, $3,969,236 (joint bid).

Groves and Sons, Inc., Camp Hill, $4,314,592; Public Constructors, Inc., Blackwood, N. J., $4,528,930; Johnson, Drake and Piper, Inc., New York City, $4,588,704; H. R. Corbisello, Inc., Binghamton, N. Y., $4,669,313, and Ralph Myers Contracting Corp., Pitcairn, $5,383,617.

James D. Morrissey Co., $2,862,260; H. R. Corbisello, Inc., $3,056,445; Lane Construction Co., $3,163,557; S. J. Groves and Sons, Inc., $3,181,980; Public Constructors, Inc., $3,308,478; John, Drake and Piper, Inc., $3,391,576.

When the Thruway is completed, it will serve as the eastern terminus of the Keystone Shortway between Stroudsburg and Sharon and as the southern terminus of the Penn-Can Highway leading to Canada.

The first section of the Thruway was built by the Morrissey firm and is now in use. The next two sections are currently under construction by J. H. Beers, Inc., Richmond contractor. They are scheduled for completion in July, 1961.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—In separate decisions Friday, federal courts here and in Cincinnati ruled that landowners in two west Tennessee counties could not use voting rights as a reason to dislodge Negro sharecroppers.

The Justice Department contended that the threatened evictions of 700 Negroes in Fayette and Haywood counties was the result of Negro voter registration drives.

The landlords denied it, claiming they no longer need the sharecroppers because their farms are mechanized.

The rulings mean the landlords will have to show that voting rights have nothing to do with their discharging farm employees. The evictions were timed for Jan. 1.

The first decision was handed down by the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati. The three-judge court granted a Justice Department plea for a temporary injunction against 37 Haywood County landowners.

Based on that decision, Dist. Court Judge Marion S. Boyd late Friday signed a temporary restraining order in Memphis to prevent Fayette County landowners from from evicting Negroes.

The Fayette case was filed Dec. 14 and names 81 defendants and three banks. As in the Haywood case, the Justice Department accused the defendants of conspiring to deprive Negroes of their voting rights.

The Haywood County case was filed Sept. 13 by U.S. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers Jr. It names more than 70 Haywood County residents and three banks, and accuses them of planning and enforcing economic reprisals against Negroes who registered to vote.

The Fayette case was filed Dec. 14 and names 81 defendants and three banks. As in the Haywood case, the Justice Department accused the defendants of conspiring to deprive Negroes of their voting rights.

Both courts emphasized Friday that the decisions should not be construed to mean that contract rights can be enforced under the civil rights law. The decision on that will be made when the cases are tried.

Annual

Watchnight Services

SUNDAY, from 7:30 to 8 a.m., a Christian Science program will be broadcast by Station WCAU-Phila., in their radio "Church of the Air." The subject of the program is, "A House Built on a Rock."

The program is not concerned with the building of a physical house but rather with the home—the family that lives in the house and their relations to each other. The experience of a young married couple who had reached a point where divorce seemed unavoidable is related.

However, by turning to God for help and following the teachings of Christ Jesus who throughout his career stressed the importance of always putting God first, harmony and peace and love were restored in their home.

Bernard C. Berry, Committee on Publication for Pennsylvania, and a former Reader in a Christian Science Church, will be the speaker. Musical selections on the program have been pre-recorded by Miss Josephine Antoine and Frederick Jagel.

Yesterday is gone. We tear its page from our calendar, for we live in the present.

But often we look back with nostalgia to the many yesterdays which make up the past. In a different mood we plan for the uncertain days ahead, sometimes filling them with happy expectations, sometimes with anxious forebodings.

Where is God in this time pattern of our lives?

Is He in the past alone, incarnate two thousand years ago in the great Teacher of Nazareth? Or does He walk with us through the present, our Companion each day? Does He remove all fear from the future with His promise, the promise of the living Christ, "And lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world?"

Come to Church and learn to know this Christ who is "the same yesterday, today, and forever."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Put And Take

When Washington officials and just plain folks began to become excited about the outflow of gold to meet foreign demands, fingers were pointed at tourists, foreign investments by U. S. firms, foreign aid programs, and the kin of American military personnel. All were spreading U. S. dollars overseas, and all these dollars menaced our gold supply, it was said.

Things are gradually coming into focus, and action is being taken.

One of the facts that has emerged is that American investments abroad result in a net annual balance in our favor. We have been averaging $2 billion a year in new investment abroad—while bringing back $2.5 in profits from investments already made.

But the nations abroad are benefitting from this investment, too. An additional $1 billion a year in profits does not return to the U.S., but is reinvested abroad. And U. S. firms employ about 3 million foreign workers.

Apparently few of these jobs are "exported," in the sense that if only the money were invested here American workers would hold them instead of the foreigners. Many are in extractive industries, where workers must be where the mining or oil production is done.

Much of what is produced is sold abroad, where both our domestic production costs in the U.S. and foreign governmental import restrictions would deny us the chance to supply customers from American factories. In most cases, foreign production is the only way in which America can be represented in the foreign markets.

In some cases, such as soft drink bottling, transportation costs rule out sales direct from the U.S., but establishment of American firms abroad makes jobs for many workers in the U.S.

So it has been demonstrated that U.S. industry benefits the economy at home by investing abroad, and cuts down the need for foreign aid into the bargain. Our allies gain while we do—a pretty satisfactory arrangement.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Root Of Alcohol Undisturbed

Alcoholism, according to both Governor Lawrence and Health Secretary Wilbar, has become "one of the major health problems" of the commonwealth.

They estimate 300,000 Pennsylvanians are alcoholics.

Most of this number, Dr. Wilbar describes as "the hidden variety." That is they conceal their addiction until their habit becomes too apparent to hide.

In an effort to focus attention on the tragic consequences of alcoholism, Governor Lawrence is asking every high school in the state to put special emphasis on "teaching the facts about alcohol and the damage alcohol has on driving reflexes."

He likewise advises families with alcoholism problems to take advantage of the alcoholism clinics and rehabilitation center maintained by the state Department of Health.

All this is commendable, as far as it goes. But it is actually nothing more than trimming the branches while letting the roots of the tree continue to grow undisturbed.

Williamsport Sun-Gazette

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Waste Due To DAC

A military person, recently returned from Korea, writes to me:

"It seemed to me that the value of these Department of the Army Civilians—DAC's as they were called—was more apparent than a real, and that a very great deal of money was wasted on this civilian employment program that was solely needed elsewhere in our defense establishment.

"Only recently in Korea have soldiers and civilians been allowed dependents, and this, so far, only on a very limited basis; thus the argument against overseas dependents does not really obtain here.

"But the DAC program in Korea I do believe to be, as a whole, an excellent example of 'creeping bureaucracy,' and one which merits attention by those interested in reducing needless government expenditures."

"This man's long letter is not aimed at civilian experts, technicians and specialists who do work that soldiers are not trained for. His argument is aimed at civilian employees who do exactly the same work as soldiers and who can readily be replaced by soldiers at great savings to the taxpayer and at a reduction of the gold outflow which is such a serious problem to this country.

He particularly calls attention to general clerks, typists and stenographers who do work that soldiers can easily do. Many soldiers are trained to do this work. The civilian female secretary performs a service which a soldier can do. My correspondent cites as an example the following:

"... My rank was Specialist Fourth Class (E-4); my monthly pay, including longevity and overseas allowances, was $145. I opened the office at 6:30 a.m. and generally closed it between 5 and 5:30 p.m., depending, of course, upon the time (my superior officer) departed for the day. I attended weekly periods of drill and field training.

I prefer to give my correspondent's conclusions rather than my own:

"Were the Army to replace this civilian, and the thousands of others serving with military organizations, with qualified military personnel, a great saving could be realized. The soldier replacing the civilian would handle the civilian's duties.

"In case of war he would not become so much baggage to be evacuated to safety, but a working unit of the over-all fighting establishment. In a Cold War situation such as that prevailing in Korea, he would be on duty not eight but 24 hours a day, including weekends, at no extra cost. His quarters would be a barracks shared by other soldiers, not a single room . . ."

The Army's reason for keeping the DAC's in continuity of service, as hired help, they remain on duty while the soldier is sent home. My correspondent has a cure for that:

"... Surely continuity of service can be achieved by other, less costly, means. The Army pays soldiers extra for overseas service, for hazardous duty such as airborne training, and for additional service beyond two years. Why not increase the pay of the soldier by ten per cent for every additional year of overseas service beyond the mandatory amount . . ."

Altogether this is an interesting, intelligent letter deserving of notice by the Pentagon and by Congress. I do not give the writer's name because I do not want to have him laid low by the bureaucracy which always protects its own—particularly its own errors in which it establishes a vested interest.

Pat him on the back, Stroudsburg, this man deserves it.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Praises Assistant

Dear Mr. Editor:
I live in Mount Pocono and I travel through Stroudsburg every day. I'm sure you will agree with me when I say that I think it's about time someone in your town gives your assistant superintendent of streets a pat on the back for the wonderful work he has done on this snow removal.

He's out there when it starts and doesn't stop until it's cleaned up. I believe his superiors are proud of his work and thought that if the street superintendent, who is ill, would know what a good job his assistant is doing, he would be proud.

If anyone thinks differently they should ride through some nearby towns. I'm sure you will agree with me, taxpayers.

Pat him on the back, Stroudsburg, this man deserves it.

The Pennsylvania Story

Rare Situation

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — Although Pennsylvania's Governor Lawrence falls into the theoretical classification as a "lame duck governor" with the beginning of his tenure next month — chances are his "quacks" will be just as emphatic, forceful and meaningful as during the first two years now ending.

This in itself is a rather unique switch from past custom where Keystone State chief executives in the twilight days of their administrations inevitably found themselves literally hollering in a closet with no one paying the slightest heed.

This peculiar "custom" derives from the simple fact that Pennsylvania governors by constitutional decree cannot succeed themselves in office.

"She enjoyed PX privileges, the use of all military recreational facilities, and was allowed to study under the Army's educational program for military personnel through classwork at the University of Maryland's overseas establishment.

"In case of a resumption of hostilities, it would have been necessary to evacuate her and the thousands of other civilian workers to Japan. I do not know the exact amount of her pay, but it was surely three times that of mine."

As a result, this proviso has been a breeding ground for gubernatorial frustrations, trips to the wailing wall, and similar expressions of exasperation.

Much of this of course stemmed from the fact that

Mt. Pocono Insurance Is Reduced

MIDDLE Department Association of Fire Underwriters has announced commercial fire insurance rate reductions effective Dec. 26 of up to 60 per cent in the Borough of Mount Pocono.

Improvements in the pressure and increased supply by the Fairview Water Co. to the borough's water system has established these reductions.

The association was requested by Donald A. Robbins Agency to allow credit for the improvements to the system. Robbins stated that the reduced cost of fire insurance will amount to several thousands of dollars and will affect most of the commercial establishments in the borough.

Tiffany Leaves, Gives Advice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gordon M. Tiffany, quitting as staff director of the federal Civil Rights Commission, recommended Friday that Congress and the White House take more vigorous steps in this field.

In a farewell report, he had two pieces of advice for Congress:

"1. It should consider selecting its committee chairmen on some other basis than length of service. The seniority system has had the effect of making Southerners chairmen of important committees when Democrats are in control."

2. It should consider reducing the number of Congress members from states in proportion to the extent they denied the right to vote on account of race."

This, too, was aimed at Southern states accused by commission agents of systematically keeping large numbers of Negroes from voting.

"As to the presidency and the White House staff," Tiffany said, "emphasis should be placed on leadership and giving a public impression of conviction and continuing awareness of moral and legal obligations in this area."

Dingmans In Midst Water Crisis

DINGMAN'S FERRY — The resort village of Dingman's Ferry, severely hit by the flash-floods of 1955, is now in the midst of a different kind of water crisis. A growing number of homes which depend for their water supply on the Dingman's Ferry Water Company are going dry.

Bathrooms in many homes have been unusable for weeks. Women do their washing in the middle of the night, at which time they are most likely to find a trickle of water in their tubs. In some homes water can be carried up from basement hydrants, others are devoid of sanitary facilities for a growing length of time each day. One family, unable to keep their aged mother comfortable in the worsening situation, has had to send her to stay with relatives indefinitely.

"Indefinitely" seems the best descriptive term for the matter. Numerous complaints have been made to the water company but nothing has been done. Mr. Raymond Angle, chief stockholder, president and operator of the company, has said that the mains, pumps and other equipment have been checked and found to be in proper working order. He has no plans for improving the situation.

Many residents have written to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission. The PUC has requested Mr. Angle to come to Harrisburg to discuss the situation. Mr. Angle has not gone, but he told one resident he has no intention of going.

Mr. Angle's home is equipped with a private water system and does not use company water.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

I told you we'd manage—but not with what difficulty. The holiday parties went on as scheduled. Some people went to the viewing first. Others couldn't or wouldn't. But life went on. You laughed, you talked; you admired the gold frosting on Madelyn Shinn's hair; relished Joyce Pedersen's hot potatoes with the sour cream dressing.

Fortunately, time doesn't stand still, and life never takes time out for either sorrow or joy. There are beds to be made, families to feed, dishes to be washed, trains to catch, deadlines to be met. In all this there is neither disrespect nor heartlessness but an acknowledgment that the cosmos keeps swirling, planets revolving, apes keep being renewed.

The Italians have a peculiar New Year's Eve custom. They throw into the streets all the things they will have no use for in the new year. Furniture, mementoes, and old glass, until the streets in Rome look as if they were paved with diamonds.

After midnight, those who have less come salvaging what they can use. Later the sanitation trucks come around and gather up the rest. But before that, nobody can drive home from a New Year's Eve party without four flat tires.

I doubt if our garbage collectors would appreciate our adaptation of the Italian custom, but the sort of things I want to get rid of wouldn't take up much room on a garbage truck: The gratitude I felt but never expressed; the note of congratulations I meant to write and didn't.

The love I felt but camouflaged with complaints. None of these things are very heavy or take up much room, but they weigh upon my mind.

Maybe that's what a New Year is for—able to toss them out and start afresh. The place looks bare without the junk but with what treasures it still is furnished: Children I am proud of, friends who like me no matter what, work that interests me, and a clean slate on which to write.

May the New Year bring these, if nothing more, to you, bless you all.

Once again we have come to the end of a year, and look to the future with both trembling and cheer. As Sixty sways out and the New Year creeps in, there are those who are awed, and those who begin by whooping it up with laughter and folly, as harsh as the north wind, as sharp-edged as holly. ME? I think of the past; all the friends who are gone, and the things of today that I hope will live on. Writing a column's not easy today, Beyond a good greeting, what else can I say?

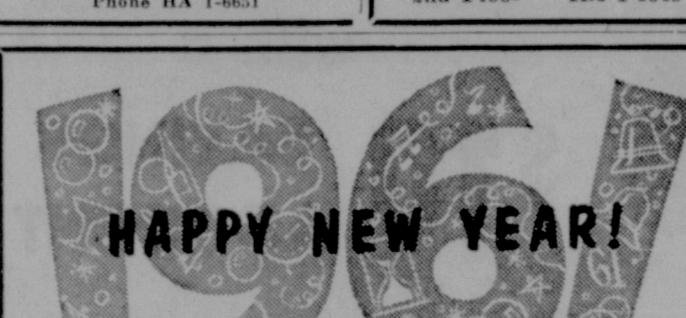

There's Dot at our switchboard whose last name is fun, for it's so gosh darned easy to rhyme words with DUNN. There's Edna in travel. Who else would dare say to our VERY BEST CUSTOMERS, "Please go away"? . . . In "ads" you'll find Shorty, in housewares, Kay Long . . . a contrast of names, but they're both in my song. So are Fleischmanns . . . and Neumanns . . . (and Oldmans, if any) . . . the Jacobs . . . Weitzmans . . . our tenant named Penney. Christians and Savages I also must mention, along with the Imbts who give Saints hypertension . . . all who are Stearn, and all who are Nyce, and all of the many whose name is a Price . . . "Happy New Year" to the Dukes, Lords, and Queens! I'll even go tell it to the Mareans!

To the Mcs and the Macs, be they Cool or Lead . . . to the Le-s and La-s, and the rest of the crowd; to those nice Greens on Green Street, the Rubins, the Browns . . . the "bergs" and the "burgs" (by the last, our two towns!) . . . to the boys and the gals at the radio station, and all of their counterparts over our nation . . . to the Steens and the Steins . . . to the Bushes and Vines . . . the Hunters and Millers, the Cooks and the Shillers . . . to the Shopper you reach when you phone Wyckoff's store (my good friend Bartholomew, need I say more?) . . . to the Ailes, Jo and Howard, both in our store . . . and all the un-ailing (I hope by the score!) . . . to those who are wealthy, and those who are poor, and those on the border who can't be quite sure! . . . to all those who like me and all those who don't; to all those who read me, and all who just won't . . . to those who are lonely, or ill, or in need; everyone, everywhere despite race or creed . . . to the staff at the Record from HILL down to HELLER, a happy, bright New Year to each kindly feller . . . To the Eastwoods and Westbrooks (no boundary know I!) . . . to the Heydts and the Lows, Stout wishes Myles high! . . . To the "sons" and the "sens", the Light-ners and WICKS, the Luckeys, unluckies, and those out on a Lim . . . to the Laws and the Lawless, those Smiley . . . those Grimm . . . to the Auers and Ewes, and those wonderful Evers . . . to the Flowers and Gardners . . . the Kochs and the Hyers.

To the Lynches, the Foxes, and those who are Wise . . . the Singers, and Sargents . . . the Saylor's . . . and Blighs . . . the SIT-tigs and STANDERS, and those who are Lax . . . the Lanks, and the Plumps; all the Whites and the Blacks . . . the Leedoms and those who are aptly named Leader . . . those Smart ones, the Brights, and those well-informed Readers. Also, you will see that it's well within reason to send Winters and Somers one's best at this season. To the haters who boo, and the Marcias who Clapp . . . to the cheery Goodalls, "Happy New Year" I Rapp. To those who are listed on line of their own in the nice, neat direct'ry that came with the phone . . . to all of the Wyckoffs at home and afar, and to all of their loved ones, wherever they are . . . to just everyone, from A to Z, including, of course, my own family . . . I wish in thoughts that are true and sincere, a long, happy life; a golden new year.

Laos Showdown Seen

EDITOR'S NOTE—Roy Esoyan promise between extremist nationalist forces.

Something new and intangibly dangerous has been added. The Laotians have tasted blood.

For years they shadow-boxed through the jungles. They smiled happily and said "Lao don't kill Lao."

The Laotians were like children playing at war.

The vicious shelling and street-fighting through Vientiane two weeks ago exploded that myth.

Laotian killed Laotian with ruthless abandon for 76 hours. There is doubt they can go back to their old gentle ways.

The big powers are now committed. And the Laotians look to them, and not to themselves, for a solution.

In one of his first news conferences in Vientiane, Premier Prince Boun Oum was asked if he intended to continue diplomatic recognition of the Soviet Union. "It is up to the big powers," he said.

The United States is behind Boun Oum's new uncompromisingly anti-Communist government.

The Soviet Union won a foothold during the brief tenure of

Or the strategically located southeast Asian kingdom can turn into a battleground between communism and the Western powers, on the order of the Korean War.

Much depends on the great powers, and the restraint they show. All the ingredients for a showdown are here—a divided country, increasing involvement of the big powers and the steady whittling away of a middle ground for com-

"The world of propaganda, fear, hate and violence can only end in catastrophe. The West has an opportunity now to help a great people and at the same time to begin creating a very different kind of world, moving away from self-destruction. It could be our last chance."

Radio announced Thursday that Red China's farms were ravaged this year by the worst natural disasters in a century—drought, typhoons, floods and insect plagues.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Association of American Railroads said yesterday a decrease of 5.1 per cent in the number of cars loaded with revenue freight has been estimated for the first quarter of 1961 compared with the same period in 1960.

The association said on this basis freight car loadings of the 32 principal commodity groups surveyed will be 5,497,834 in the first quarter of 1961 compared with 5,790,592 in the first quarter of 1960.

An increase of 10.6 per cent for the first quarter of 1961 was estimated for the Ohio Valley district and small increases were also estimated for the Midwest and northwest areas. Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma's neutralist government. It started flying rice and gasoline to his regime, and switched to arms and ammunition for the pro-Communist forces in Laos, fled the country under increasing pressure.

Communist China, Laos' giant neighbor to the north, is making threats of intervention.

Communist North Viet Nam, Laos' neighbor to the northeast, has been indoctrinating, training and supplying the rebel guerrillas known as the Pathet Lao.

Six years of pro-Western governments in Laos failed to suppress the Pathet Lao.

Kong Le, an energetic and apparently patriotic but politically naive paratroop captain, toppled a pro-Western government in a coup Aug. 9.

At that point the West could have come out in full support of Souvanna's new neutralist government or abandon it in favor of Boun Oum's right-wing rebels.

The United States did neither.

It continued to recognize the legal government of Souvanna and it continued support of military forces loyal to Boun Oum.

The United States explained it was committed to supporting anti-Communist forces here. It also feared Souvanna's policies of compromise would open Laos to Communist infiltration and eventual takeover. The United States has given Laos about $300 million in five years, mostly in military aid that even included payment of soldiers' wages.

Britain, France and other Western powers favored all-out support for Souvanna as the only hope for peace. They argued that the uncompromising position of anticomunism proved a failure in Laos.

If U.S. policy was to restore peace to the stricken land, it has failed.

The risks of compromising with the Pathet Lao and their Com-

The FDR memorial design picked Friday is the work of William F. Pedersen and Bradford S. Tilney. It looks something like a group of huge bookends arranged informally in a roughly circular pattern.

The winning design consists of eight towering concrete slabs inscribed with some of President Roosevelt's writings. They would occupy an area between the Lincoln Memorial and the Jefferson Memorial.

Francis Biddle, chairman of the National Memorial Commission, said the winning design still must pass the National Capital Planning Commission.

F. D. Roosevelt Memorial Designers Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — A design by two New York architects was selected Friday as the winner in a competition to design a memorial to the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

The winning design consists of eight towering concrete slabs inscribed with some of President Roosevelt's writings. They would occupy an area between the Lincoln Memorial and the Jefferson Memorial.

The slabs would be of slightly varying heights, the tallest being 156 feet. They would be hollow and from 8 to 12 inches thick.

Roosevelt's words would run across the upright part of the bookend.

Sales Tax Deductions Estimated

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service office Thursday released a table showing how much sales tax payments Pennsylvanians can "reasonably" deduct from their federal income tax returns.

Edgar A. McGinnies, district director, said taxpayers who use the figure in the table ordinarily would not be questioned by revenue agents. Those, however, who list larger sales tax deductions may be asked to itemize their claims, he added.

The table, based on the state's 4 per cent sales tax, follows:

Adjusted Gross Income Sales Tax Payments

|-------------------------|------|
| Under $1,000 | $22 |
| $1,000 under $1,500 | 22 |
| $1,500 under $2,000 | 31 |
| $2,000 under $2,500 | 40 |
| $2,500 under $3,000 | 47 |
| $3,000 under $3,500 | 55 |
| $3,500 under $4,000 | 64 |
| $4,000 under $4,500 | 72 |
| $4,500 under $5,000 | 79 |
| $5,000 under $5,500 | 87 |

Judge Denies Millworker

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A U. S. District Court judge yesterday denied a request of millworker Donald C. Rarick to delay the quadrennial election of the United Steelworkers on Feb. 14.

Judge Rabe F. Marsh rejected the motion after a hearing in which Rarick and his counsel, James Ashton, charged various irregularities in the union's nominating procedures.

USW headquarters announced last Friday that Rarick, leader of an insurgent union element, had failed to secure the necessary 40 nominations of local units to run for president against incumbent David J. McDonald.

Rarick and Ashton told Judge Marsh that secret ballots were not used at nomination meetings of locals, that insufficient notice of nomination meetings was given, that many union members could not vote because polls were open only during certain hours.

Judge Marsh, in rejecting the plea for a temporary restraining order, observed that Rarick had not used union appeal machinery. The judge also said the case could be taken to the U. S. secretary of labor.

Finally, Judge Marsh said Ashton could file a formal complaint with the court outlining the charges, and it would be processed through regular court channels.

Ashton told newsmen later he was uncertain what future action he would take.

McDonald defeated Rarick for president in 1957 by a slightly less than 2-to-1 majority after Rarick easily won nomination.

gain time has come to pass — another year has met its weary end. Only the memories of success and failure remain to muse on. The remembrances of nineteen-sixty wait like undulating mist in the deep recesses of the mind. They offer the fruit of misty memory—some sweet—some, equally bitter. How often we choose the succulence of the sweet fruit. It is the taste of the bitter fruit that motivates us to resolve—to try to accomplish that task that somehow always eludes us. And tonight, amidst the hulabaloo of cheers and toasts there will be a moment apart from all the gaiety. It will be a moment of seriousness. An honest, unblinking look at your accomplishments—verity. You will decide then whether you have done your share justly, whether your dealings were ethical, and if the ultimate result left you proud. Then you will make your resolutions for the new year you are about to enter. You will decide which path to take in the snow. The one you took in nineteen-sixty may be easy to travel on—one, well-worn for easy passage. But new paths await your bold adventure. The going on these is precarious. These are the paths that are open to everyone, yet, few try them, and fewer still succeed in the try. But in the end these are the only ones worth musing about. They are the sweet fruit. They are the ones we draw on most in our remembrances. And, during that moment of seriousness, these are the only paths we resolve to accomplish in the year to come. It is during this moment of decision that we wish to be with you. At that time, tonight, we extend our hopes that you resolve to do the great thing for this coming new year of nineteen-sixty-one •

Homecoming Days In Bangor

Bangor Boy Scouts Plan Drive To Raise Funds

BANGOR — College students home for the holidays have a special invitation, tonight, to the first annual Homecoming Night for former members of the Beehive, Bangor Youth Center. Usual weekend hours at the center will prevail, 7:30 to 10:30.

While no formal program is planned, the affair is intended to provide the visitors with a nostalgic glimpse of the old "stampin' ground," and an opportunity to reminisce with former high school companions.

Arrangements for the affair are in charge of the Beehive supervisor, Duane Miller, and the Youth Council officers: Jack Williams, president; Frank Falcone, vice president; Jane Kressler, secretary.

YFC Rally Set Tonight

TONIGHT'S Youth for Christ rally will feature George Hahn of Fairlawn, New Jersey.

Hahn, still a teen-ager, is director of the North Jersey Youth for Christ, while attending college. An excellent vocalist, Hahn was featured soloist with the YFC Directors chorus which sang for the 300 teen-agers assembled here in the Poconos this past week.

Bob Bullock, director of the local YFC group, announced that tonight's rally will be just one hour long, from 8 to 9 so as not to conflict with the many watch-night services being held throughout the area.

Youth for Christ rallies are held in the Wyckoff Recreation Center over the Sears Farm Store, 18 N. 6th St., Stroudsburg, Pa.

Dear Abby

Perennial Lover

Dear Abby: I have been married to an incurable flirt and a philanderer for 22 years.

I can pick his next victim ten minutes after I enter a roomful of strangers with him.

He is a handsome, respected professional man. He has a wonderful personality and is such a charming kiddie no one would suspect he'd seriously follow up a cocktail flirtation. Believe me, I know her feelings.

Just A Husband

Dear Just: Explain it to her. I have been with her many times. I've stayed with him for the sake of the children and to avoid scandal, hoping each fling would be his last. He adores the children and suffers no loss of love at home. Everyone thinks we are the ideal family. Can you ever change the spots on a leopard, Abby?

Leopard's Wife

Dear Wife: You're confused by your animals. Yours is a wolf. "Covering up" for a philandering husband for 22 years is no way to cure him. The wife who raises Cain early in her marriage may not change her leopard's spots, but she can train him before he gets too wild. Better start now. It's later than you think.

Dear Abby: I have been married less than a year and already I am having problems. My wife calls me at work. I wouldn't object if she had a reason for it, but she will call me just to "hear my voice." She does this at least once every day. It is very embarrassing, and the guys at work give me dirty looks when they have to call me to the phone.

She's a wonderful girl but she is very sensitive. How can I tell her to quite calling me at work without hurting her feelings?

Dear T. J.: You'd be crazy not to.

Dear Abby: When I met Rita, exactly one year ago, I knew I had finally found the girl I wanted to marry. She works where I work, is quiet, refined, and beautiful in a natural way. Rita is 26 and a widow. I am 28 and also eligible. I love her and she says she loves me. When I asked her to marry me she said yes, not to.

Dear Abby: When I met Rita, exactly one year ago, I knew I had finally found the girl I wanted to marry. She works where I work, is quiet, refined, and beautiful in a natural way. Rita is 26 and a widow. I am 28 and also eligible. I love her and she says she loves me. When I asked her to marry me she said yes, not to.
